DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-54, 101, 110-117, 137-139, 142-144 and 147, drawn to an applicator for cutaneous delivery of a bioactive composition, classified in class 604, subclass 289.
- II. Claims 55-82, 134, 135, 145 and 146, drawn to a kit for filling an applicator with a bioactive composition for cutaneous drug delivery, classified in class 206, subclass 570.
- III. Claims 83-100, 102-109, 118-133, 136, 140, 141 and 148-150, drawn to a method of administering a bioactive composition, classified in class 604, subclass 290.

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination has utility by itself. The subcombination has separate utility such as a drug dispensing device for cutaneous drug delivery.

Inventions I and III and II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process of cutaneous drug delivery can be accomplished by another product other than an applicator or a kit, such as a transdermal patch.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

In the event that applicant elects to pursue the prosecution of the claims of Invention I, the following election of species requirement applies.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: (1) an applicator wherein the spacer is supported by the dispenser, (2) an applicator wherein the spacer is attached to a cutaneous target, (3) an applicator with a thermal droplet jet dispenser, (4) an applicator with a piezoelectric droplet jet dispenser, (5) an applicator with a strap attachment member, (6) an applicator with an adhesive attachment member, (7) an applicator with a sensor parameter being pulse rate, (8) an applicator with a sensor parameter being blood oxygenation level, (9) an applicator with a biosensor communicating via radiowaves, (10) an applicator with a biosensor communicating via infrared, (11) an applicator with an indicator comprising a light, (12) an applicator with an indicator comprising an audible signal and (13) an applicator with an indicator comprising a tactile signal.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 is generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
